

Champak Dyuti Majumder

Assistant Professor
Department of Applied Sciences and Humanities

Educational Qualification

Master of Arts in English from University of North Bengal (2001).
Pursuing PhD on American graphic novels at Bankura University

Academic Experience

Teaching English in engineering colleges since 2002. 16 years of teaching experience (8 years in DIATM)

Preferred area of teaching:

The differences between the two major English speaking civilizations: The United Kingdom and the United States. Problems and confusions arising out of such differences in spelling, grammar, usages, and pronunciations and how to get rid of such confusions.

Administrative responsibilities:

Participate in the organization of all cultural events in the Foundation.

Publication:

Last paper published in an academic journal in the year 2016 titled “Friday Island othoba Naromangsho Bhokkhon o Tahar Por: A Bengali Novel’s Quest for Archetypes. Published in Journal of Bengali Studies.